Latgalian have strong traditions in pottery and baking as well as numerous religions - Catholics, Lutherans, Orthodox and Old Believers live side by side. Latgale is also called the land of Maria or Mary, its most sacred place is Aglona Basilica where every year thousands of pilgrims gather.

Latgale is a region with its own strong traditions, and sometimes feels like another country. Latgale is so different from the rest of Latvia that it is sometimes referred to as "the land of blue lakes". Here are two of Latvia's largest lakes: Lubans and Rāzna.

Latgale is known for its rolling landscapes and many lakes. As a result it is sometimes referred to as "the land of blue lakes". Here are two of Latvia's largest lakes: Lubans and Rāzna. In Latgale you can marvel at the beauty of lakes, birch forests, migrating birds and white clouds. Escape from the noisy city, to a place where people sincerely welcome their guests with traditional hospitality, where peaceful mornings greet the sunrise, where cornflowers blossom on hillsides.
